Specifications

- Material: FRP, white gel coated (painting required)

Product Warning

- Although the fender covers are designed to extend 1.6cm to both left and right, depending on the individual differences in vehicles installation may result in the fender covers extending beyond the vehicle inspection standards of 2cm. In this case, be sure to have the vehicle undergo a structural modification inspection (2-year vehicle inspection).
- To attach fender covers to the BCNR33, holes must be drilled at four points on each side of the fender flanges.
- To attach rear fender covers on the BNR34, holes must be drilled at three points on each of the fender flanges, and at one place on each of the bumper flanges.
- To attach front fender covers on the BNR34, drilling is not required, as they are attached using the existing fender protector screws.
- To attach rear fender covers on the Z33, holes must be drilled at three points on each of the fender flanges, and at one place on each of the bumper flanges.
